

Protect the ocean

The ocean needs a lot of love.

The animals, the fish, and even the water.

We need to protect the ocean like we do our hands with gloves.

We all need to think a lot broader.

Now we have entered the phase of slaughter.

We are killing animals left and right.

So come in and help protect the water.

If you can, then join the fight.

Take the chance of might; don't give in to fright!

We have become too uneducated to stop this madness

In the future we will drown inside sadness

No more ocean, no more happiness

Wade right in, do your part, maybe you find gladness

So tell your neighbors to come and help the oceans

We all need to be in sync with this big motion

Don't let people tell you that this is dumb

Tell people to step up and come
