

Antarctica Adventure

By: Chloe M. Doll

It was a warmish day in Florida but, I was on my way to Antarctica, the "coldest place on earth." We were on our way on a tiny ship. I was really scared because the day before there was an alert on my phone that said that, "A prisoner has got out. He is EXTREMELY dangerous and is armed with several weapons. He was last seen in a boat around Brazil." My dad says that I fear everything. I do not get scared of everything just spiders, cats, ants, fire, guns, clowns, snakes, bugs, the dark, and big dogs, not a lot right. Then the boat stopped and made a loud "thunk". All the little hairs on my arm stood up like little spoilers ready to attack. Then my family, mom, dad, and my little brother stood up and walked off the ship. So, as you should have guessed, I followed them because I cannot stand to be alone. When we got off, I had the strangest feeling but, I don't know how to explain this feeling. As I shivered my dad said "Look how beautiful this place is." Then I looked at my mom she did not look so happy to be in Antarctica either.

We walked around for like hours and got NOWHERE!! My dad was looking for Area 72, a top-secret lab in the middle of Antarctica. My hands start to turn purple and blue every minute. As you should have known I flipped out screaming at the top of my lungs. My mom turned around in a flash to help me. While my dad said, "Look at those penguins they are one of the only animals that live here except seals. Did you know that no animal really lives here they just stay here for a little then leave?" My mom was only helping me calm down because I was screaming so loud that people in Brazil probably heard me. My mom told me to put my hands in my pockets till we got to the land. So, I did but, when my mom and I got up my dad and my brother were both gone, nowhere in sight. My mom got up and started to cry. I told her we should start looking for them. So, she got up rubbed her tears away and we started walking into a white mist to nowhere.

I was so tired because we have been walking for the pasted day and found no dad and no brother. Then I heard a noise coming from in front of us. It sounded like my brother crying. My mom ran forward no question needed I knew she would do that. So, I was ready to follow her to get my brother. I just kept running and running till I ran straight into my mom's back. She was holding my brother in her arms. He was crying like crazy! He was not injured like I was with my hands but, he said he say something in the mist and got scared. While mom calmed him down, I looked at my hands, black, purple, and blue. They stung really hard and it felt like I did not have any hands. Then my mom told me to help her look for my father. I agreed and we kept walking, hands freezing, cold feet, life felt like it was over.

After all that all I remember is falling to the ground, moms voice, my brother still crying, and the cold snow against my face. When I woke up and put my hand down on the cold snow, I noticed that the snow around me was dark red. When I sat up all the way I noticed that my foot was completely cut of but, it was nowhere in sight. All I could feel was pain all over. I tried to stand up, I could but, it was hard to walk. Then, I say a figure, I was in sooooo much pain, I just ran to that person so if they could help me but, then when I got up the to this person it turned out to be dad. I hugged him but, then I knife in his hand. Then I realized my dad in the prisoner. The one who cut my foot off? All I could remember was passing out and hearing my dad say, " Did you now that Antarctica was found in the 1800." When I woke up, I was all alone in the middle of a snowstorm but, something was different. I was moving but, my feet where not even close to the ground.

It turned out it was my mom caring me because a helicopter found here. My mom took me to the hospital because my hands where black and blue and my foot was gone. They fixed my foot with a robotic one. I learned my lesson to be grateful for what you have. My mom said I was going to be ok but, she was the last thing I say.

The END!!